

ENG Source Use Rubric

	Exemplary	Accomplished	Developing	Beginning
	4	3	2	1
04c. Integrate and synthesize evidence and/or sources in support of a claim	All sources are clearly integrated. Student makes clear distinction between source's and student's information through the use of appropriate signal phrases and in-text and parenthetical citations. Full understanding of choice of paraphrasing, summary, or quoting Distinguishes between common knowledge and ideas requiring attribution. Information is true to the original context	Most sources are clearly integrated. Student makes clear distinction between source's and student's information although one or two signal phrases seem inappropriate or mechanical, but the in-text citations are accurate. No dropped quotations exist. Partial understanding of when to paraphrase, summarize, or quote source information. Partially able to Distinguish between common knowledge and ideas requiring attribution. Information is partially true to the original context	Weak integration of sources. There's little distinction between source's and student's information. Most signal phrases seem inappropriate or mechanical, and some in-text citations are inaccurate. Contain 1 or 2 dropped quotations. Vague understanding of when to paraphrase, summarize, or quote source information. Vague understanding between common knowledge and ideas requiring attribution. Information is vague and may not capture the point of the original context	Demonstrate little understanding of source integration, uses weak or inappropriate signal phrases, and shows poor or no use of in-text citations. Distinction between source's and student's information is unclear, confusing, or missing. Contains more than two dropped quotations. Little understanding of when to paraphrase, summarize, or quote source information Little understanding between common knowledge and ideas requiring attribution. Has more than one instance where the source information is misleading, misrepresented, or fabricated
04d. Follow an appropriate documentation system in applying evidence and/or sources.	Lists all documented sources on works cited page. Has no errors in MLA style. Meets the number and types of sources required	Lists all documented sources on a works cited page plus some sources that were not referenced in the paper. Has few errors in MLA style. Meets most of number and types of sources required	Lists all documented sources on a works cited page but is short one or two or the required number of sources. Has several errors in MLA style	Confusing format. Lists documented sources on a works cited page but is short more than two of the required number of sources. Has too many errors in MLA style
06. Utilize correct citation practices on the use of information from a variety of sources to observe ethical and legal restrictions.	Documents all appropriate information and wording from sources using in-text citations. Has virtually no errors in MLA style in-text citations	Documents most appropriate information and wording from sources using in-text citations. Has some errors in MLA style in-text citations	Documents some appropriate information and wording from sources using in-text citations, but leaves most information undocumented. Has significant or confusing errors in in-text citations	Documents virtually no information and wording from sources. Has many errors in MLA style in-text citations